

Good-bye 2020

...can't wait to see you...

by Kat Rowoldt

Not one of us foresaw what 2020 was going to be like. Many of us were excited with the prospect of seeing things more clearly with 20/20 vision, but we were totally unprepared for how it was dished up and fed to us. The year 2020 may forever be labeled in history as the year everyone bemoaned and remain a topic of jokes as being “oh it’s just a 2020 thing!”

As the year draws to a close (thankfully) so many things still hang in the balance of indecision. Facebook has been exposed as a villain in all things American. It has also coldly revealed to many where their friends stand on political issues. In dismay, we watched friends attack one another over election results and political ideologies.

We have an undecided Presidential election which has caused a new breath of hope for Patriots who are beginning to realize we could lose our republic if Trump doesn’t fight to make sure this is a fair and true election. So many things hinge on Georgia’s January 5th Senatorial elections, then January 6th Congressional confirmation or refuting of the election results, along with investigations into the election integrity of no fewer than six states.

Add to this discussion the appearance that Joe Biden is not only compromised when it comes to China and other countries, but the Ukraine has filed a felony indictment against him for a $900,000.00 bribe.

While all of this is bubbling/boiling in the pot, we have an equally divided nation on Covid-19. We keep being fed a narrative of how we must wear our masks, social distance, and now take a vaccine for a disease that has equal or less impact that the seasonal flu. In fact, there apparently is no flu this year – it’s all Covid. Numbers are being skewed to prop up the deaths via Covid with people who had heart issues, were stabbed to death, shot, killed in wrecks, or had lung disease, etc. Yes – Covid is real. I have lost at least two friends to it.

In my opinion, they were lost because of a new form of medical malpractice. Never before have we sent someone home when they were diagnosed with a contagious illness and told to just take aspirin and call us if their breathing got bad. No! We always have aggressively treated people to get ahead of the disease. Those who have taken hydroxychloroquine or other alternative treatments where they could get it, totally recovered in swift order, including my family members. Many have taken HCQ as a prophylactic. Another question: since when have we quarantined the healthy instead of the sick? This entire episode doesn't make sense except as a study in crowd/population control!

Remember - first they told us not to wear masks because they didn't work. Now they are mandating them - and they still don't work. 80% of those diagnosed are people who wore masks all the time, the other 20% are predominantly those who have been sheltering at home and contracted it through family spread.

Statistically we know 99.7% survive Covid. What are the numbers supposed to improve to with the vaccine? What will the reaction be if the survival numbers drop? Then we have substantial questions about the vaccine, including many who work in that field who are choosing not to take it. They are bravely speaking out to alert the public. Many have lost their jobs, been doxed, and worse. They are reporting females could end up sterilized or have difficulty reproducing. There is also the issue of altering a person's DNA. Plus, now it's being revealed the fact that aborted baby parts are often used in vaccines. The public has lost faith in this industry.

While most anti-maskers (beyond those who have medical issues with wearing one) are protesting them on Constitutional grounds, the general public is being encouraged to shame them. Really????!! The next layer of voiding our personal rights will be the demand to show proof you were vaccinated in order to fly, attend events (EventBrite). There is even chatter that in days to come proof of vaccination could be necessary to get food, money, gas, etc. Not a good direction. That is total loss of freedom. That is communism, Marxism, where you have no personal say in what happens to you. You are at the mercy of your government.

In the midst of all this chaos and so much more, there has been a nationwide revival beginning to emerge. While many Christian organizations have been holding prayer rallies and marches from their state capitols to the Capitol in D.C., one group has been traveling from one contested state to the next holding prayer rallies. In addition, they are holding daily prayer conference calls. I have heard they have a following of around half a million followers now and growing. God has not forgotten us, and it appears we are remembering we need God.

America is the only country in the world that was founded on Christian principles and for religious freedom. It's the only one that was dedicated from the beginning to God. God is not through with America. I truly believe He is going to cause our nation to rise above all of this chaos and restore us to the godly foundation it was birthed upon.

I do not think it is coincidence that the Bethlehem Star will be visible on December 21st for the first time in eight-hundred years. If there was ever a time when we needed to be shown the way, to be guided from above, it is today.

As we close out 2020, I want to wish each of you a Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year. It's been a tough year in so many ways, but it was a necessary year. I believe God allowed what has occurred to fully expose those things and those people who needed to be exposed. It's time to deal with these issues and for some, it's time to pay for crimes. May the year 2021 set us on a new course where we put God back in first place in our lives, may we regain respect for one another and those in authority because they are once again worthy of respect and may we toss away those masks and return to the loving and hugging community we once were. May we all heal physically, financially, mentally and spiritually from the stresses and grief we have endured in 2020. Let's welcome 2021 with a renewed hope for better days.

God Bless You!

Until next time...
