

On Our Doorstep...

...what we don't want to acknowledge...

by Kat Rowoldt

Just a few blocks from my home, I had to do a u-turn to photograph this vehicle a few days ago. In shock while looking at this, I had to appreciate the vehicle owner's response to the tagging. Their shoe polish statement on the glass windows says a lot. Trump wants to bring civility, law, and order, back to our country, but the mayors and/or governors are not allowing him to do so in the Democratic governed communities: Portland, Minneapolis, Austin, etc.

The last time I had seen such tagging was a few years ago. I had an appointment to interview a Rabbi at his synagogue. Just a few hours prior to my scheduled interview, while they were in prayer, a hate group had not only tagged vehicles with the swastika symbol but had thrown rocks through windshields and broken gates. It's an eerie feeling to encounter this kind of hate, but it's on our doorstep now.

As many of us have been watching the nightly newsfeed of the riots that are happening all across our country, it often feels more like an ongoing movie than reality. But it is real. It is damaging. This is hate manifested into violence. It is destroying people's lives and even taking lives. The lies that are being streamed through the airwaves are egging it on and twisting the minds of the protestors/rioters. When did lying become the standard, and sharing truth become hate speech? Inch by inch – it appears to have been a cinch, not for the good, but for our detriment.

The home where this car was tagged proudly displays campaign signs for Trump, August Pfluger, and a DON'T TREAD ON ME flag. I've been informed that this is at least the second vehicle that has been tagged like this. Possibly there have been others in our community.

I was out of town over the weekend for business. As I was leaving to head back to my home city, I began receiving text messages informing me that one of my friends who I had been with over the weekend, was at the time of my drive back, engaging in stopping a protest outside of someone's home. That city is about the same size as where I live. A population just over 100,000. For now, I will leave the city anonymous, as I plan to return in a few days and dig further into this incident. The mayor and the police arrived on the scene and in due time it dispersed.

The point of my article is to awaken our sleeping communities. We can no longer stay on the side lines. We have watched the communist/Marxist movement hide itself behind the passionate name Black Lives Matter. Our universities have been infiltrated by the Chinese Communist Party and the Muslim Brotherhood. In Austin, what is known as the Red Guard, birthed and trained on the U.T. campus, tagged our beautiful capitol city with the sickle and hammer, followed by Antifa tagging with the swastika. My contact in Austin is now reporting Black Power is rising up and are being professionally groomed.

How long are we going to turn our heads and pretend this isn't happening? What most people do not understand are the forces that are behind these groups. These aren't a bunch of kids acting stupid and doing stupid stuff. While they are using countless number of kids off of campuses and even the homeless to perpetrate this violence, these are well financed, planned, prepared, and staged movements. Behind what we are seeing today on the newsfeeds are everything from the country of China with its agenda to George Soros' money orchestrating our destruction. What are we doing to prepare to fight against these Trojan horses who have been carefully placed all across our country, from little towns to mega-sized cities?

Stayed tuned for the follow-up story. Hopefully I will have it out as quickly as possible next week.

Until then...
