

If They Only Knew

...the pre-planned steps to our destruction...

by Kat Rowoldt

Parents watch over their children and warn them quickly when they know what they're doing will hurt them. Craftsmen hand down their trade skills by watching over their students with warnings about what does not work and why. Police officers teach the rookies from their book of mistakes, so they won't make the same.

Warnings from those who have gone before has always been one of the best learning tools we have. Experience counts! Yet, throw Political Correctness into the mix, and the PC cultural pressure creates resistance that could be deadly.

People have traveled to the United States for decades to warn us about the Islam that's heading our way, and how it will harm us if we do not take heed – but too few care. Too few raise their heads from the latest debate on Twitter or Facebook to look around and notice what is happening in the real world which exists way beyond our cyber-world reality.

Trevor Loudon has come here from New Zealand and exposed a dark reality behind the scenes in Washington D.C., especially during the Obama administration.

Australian Nick Adams made it to Texas as fast as he could, and cries out that America doesn't realize the great value we have in our Constitution, that it's the Constitution and the freedoms it provides us that is the real drawing magnet to the States; no other country has the freedom we as Americans have, but sadly, we are quickly losing it.

Elisabeth Sabaditsch-Wolff from Austria, who, as the daughter of a diplomat, spent several of her childhood years in the States, now comes annually to America to warn us that the Islamic invasion which is happening in Europe today is going to be in America tomorrow; and actually, is here now.

But no one wants to hear it. No one wants this to be their reality—so not listening will make it simply go away and not happen, right? Oh, how we wish that would be true, but sadly it only hastens the reality to arrive.

Katie Hopkins, who lives in the U.K., can no longer speak of Islam in her country without being arrested, thanks to one of its newest laws. She's reported on the horrors of Islam for years and has publicly been threatened with being beheaded. She reports from other countries now, where Islam is rolling over them like a tidal wave. Interestingly, America is one of the places she comes to report on it. America now has areas where Islam has overtaken huge swaths of communities.

In September 2017, I had the opportunity to spend a couple of days with former Congresswoman Michelle Bachmann from Minnesota. In our casual chat time, she shared how her state is being overrun by Muslims and it isn't pretty. Their culture is very different from ours and it truly reflects what we see of third-world countries, which is where most of them have come from. Culturally, they do not adhere to the same hygiene standards we do. I'll leave that issue there. She told me about a year-old Walmart store she'd gone into to grab something before her flight to Texas and was shocked to see that sparkling clean new store now looking disheveled and dirty in only a year. She said how so very sad it is that she's ready to move away from her beautiful state, as it's no longer the place she once knew.

I've met and interviewed many people who have fled from their native countries out of fear for their lives. Zaid Subhi, a Chaldean Christian from Iraq. We dropped bombs on Iraq when he was only ten in the '90s, but he had to get out when the Sunnis took control of the country in 2003. Christian homes were marked with the sign of the Nazarene and forced to pay the jizya (poll tax put on non-Muslims) to live under Sunni Muslim rule as second-class citizens. One terrifying night the Muslims began murdering the Christians, and Subhi and his family escaped in the dark of the night.

Kamal Saleem is a former PLO terrorist who was sent to the States. He was one of the forerunners assigned to prepare America for their stealth jihad plans. God foiled his/their plans by saving his life.

Noni Darwish, Egyptian born, has a stamped birth certificate declaring she is a Muslim. She had no say in the matter. She moved to America as a young adult. Once exposed to our culture, she began questioning the ideology she was raised under and found Christ in her search.

She, like Kamal, live under daily threat of assassination because Muslims are not allowed to leave Islam. If any Muslim chooses to do so, their families, or any other Muslim, is required to kill them.

These and countless others have been warning Americans of what is to come if we continue to allow practicing Islam into our country. Poland, Hungary, Romania, and Czechoslovakia refuse to allow anyone of any Islamic sect into their countries, as they know that opening the door will hasten the destruction of their country. They are being sued by the EU World Court for protecting their borders.

We here in the States get glimpses of the news from Europe. We have seen the horror that Germany, France, Italy, and Greece are going through. England has fallen to Islam and will soon look like a third world country. Over 500 churches have closed in London alone, while over 400 mosques have opened.

Mosques are not the Islamic term for a church. A mosque is not even primarily a place of worship. A mosque is a seat of government where jihadis take refuge, warriors are trained, weapons are stored, and practicing Muslims pray five times a day that includes reciting a prayer that starts out by declaring their hate for Christians and Jews, who must be forced to submit to Allah's caliphate (world domination) or die.

So, what's up with America? Why with all these warnings and even with as little news we receive about Europe, can we not see the danger associated with Islam? Why are we so gullible as to the work of the Trojan horse? How can we not see the stealth jihad that is occurring all around us? We have been the frog in the pot, yet no one wants to jump out of the sauna to save his or her own life.

PC correctness (aka "group think") in today's disrespectful culture is causing a much greater divide than even the Civil War presented. This divisiveness is way beyond skin color. This is mixed with religion, political parties, education, medicine, entertainment, the food industry, our legal system, and so much more. I can't think of any arena this stealth Trojan horse has not already positioned itself and messed with the minds and reality of countless Americans.

The Tarrant County Texas Republican Party Executive Committee (TCGOP) just failed its constituents in many ways and do not, cannot, seem to recognize the BAIT they just swallowed whole. I watched on the sidelines as this story unfolded over the last six months.

Back Story: TCGOP Chair Darl Easton appointed Dr. Shahid Shafi, a Muslim, as his Vice Chair of North Tarrant County in the July Organizational Meeting. One of the precinct chairs objected, filed a motion in September to rescind the appointment, and an internal struggle waged for six months to determine whether the body of chairs (executive committee—EC) would allow him to stay or not.

Shafi has stated he is a practicing Muslim. He has refused to answer questions head-on about Sharia or how he feels about Israel. He fits the role of a stealth jihadist. He is a well-respected member of the local community, a surgeon, and does not outwardly give any signs of being a jihadi (literally what could be referred to as a suit-wearing jihadi). His wife and daughter do not wear burqas, which is typical initially when they are establishing themselves in a community.

Regretfully, more precinct chairs chose to be politically correct and keep a Muslim in its vice-chair position than to personally investigate the issue and discover there were solid reasons to pause and act with caution instead of going the PC way—and that doesn't stand for precinct chair.

Those who chose to act diligently, who sought out more information about Islam, and educated themselves in order to vote responsibly, watched with broken hearts as their Party and principles contained within, failed them. One precinct chair even stood up, resigned his position after the vote tallies were announced, collected his things, and walked out while two-thirds of the room cheered his exit—unthinkable behavior by the EC not so long ago.

Some news I just received today, four days after the TCGOP meeting, about a person who was standing off to my left in the foyer during the three hours while the EC, in executive session, deliberated its vote. Turns out one of the two men holding signs in support of Shafi was none other than the CAIR/HAMAS Muslim activist and recent Irving City Council candidate, Shayan Elahi.

I wasn't familiar with him or his name, since I do not live in the area, but a friend from there just sent me some photos from twitter and info about him. Seems he is a news contributor to CNN and FOX for the Muslim Brotherhood. He appears to be one of the MB leaders in Orlando, FL, and also in Texas. Shafi must have been very important to him to spend an evening standing in a foyer holding a sign in support of his placement as vice chair of a Republican County Party.

The Texas Republican Party, Texas itself, and the United States are truly at a crossroads in our history. Pray we choose the path forward correctly. Benjamin Franklin may have foreseen the challenge we would have in keeping what we have come to know as the American Dream and the land of the free. When he was asked by a doctor what type of governmental structure had they finally decided on, we are told the conversation may have gone like this:

“Well, Mr. Franklin, what have we got—a republic or a monarchy?”

“A republic, if you can keep it.”

Did Franklin grasp the ease with which this type of government could be destroyed from within? Did he understand the Muslim way of life enough in the day in which he lived, to consider how they could use the gullible, carefree American citizens to work for their benefit, unaware doing so might be the cause of their own demise? Guess we'll never know if he did or not, but it surely is happening today.

- We have heard their hate for us. Just read their Quran and listen to their words.
- We have felt their attacks on 9/11 and so many other attacks in the years following in cities in the USA, but how quickly we forget.
- We have been warned by people who have lived through Islamic hell.
- We daily have citizens murdered, raped, and kidnapped by Muslims, but we prefer to call it workplace violence, childhood issues, or some other lie to cover up the ties to Islam.

Will those who currently deny the Muslim invasion, and their stealth plan to convert us to Islam, ever pull their heads up out of the sand, face facts, act accordingly, and save our country? There is a small contingent, a remnant of patriots, who see and understand what is truly happening. They are being called Islamophobes, berated, derided, and dismissed today. . . but history tells us that it has many times been a small but dedicated group, a remnant, who took action and saved the day.

As it's been said, "Please don't shoot the messenger" who is trying to warn you.

May God help us!

Until next time...
